DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

1. Claims 8-12 are objected to because of the following informalities: The symbol for Ohms is incorrect. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Glatkowski et al., U.S. Pre Grant Number 2004/0265550.

The applied reference has a common inventor with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention “by another,” or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Glatkowski discloses carbon nanotubes applied to a substrate (see paragraph 0011). It is disclosed in paragraph 0028 that the carbon nanotubes can be single-walled, double-walled or multi-walled as per instant claims 1-7 and 14-16. Additionally, the reference discloses in paragraph 0030 that the nanotubes aggregate to form bundles as per the instant claims. Also, the reference discloses that the nanotubes are present in a conductive layer wherein the conductive layer has a surface resistivity in the range of 10^{-2} to about 10^{12} Ohms/square as per instant claims 8-12 (see paragraph 0030). It is disclosed in paragraph 0031 that the transparent and conductive layer has a light transmittance of about 70% or more in the infrared (near or far), ultraviolet and x-ray regions as per instant claims 9-12 and 17-21 (see paragraph 0031). Paragraph 0057 of the reference discloses that the substrate can be a transparent resin.

Double Patenting

4. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the “right to exclude” granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 1794

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

5. Claims 1-21 are provisionally rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-25 of copending Application No. 10/729,369. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because both applications recite a conductive article comprising carbon nanotubes applied to a transparent substrate wherein the layer comprising the substrate and the carbon nanotubes have a surface resistivity in the range of 10^{-2} to about 10^{12} Ohms/square. Additionally, both reference recite that the carbon nanotubes can single-walled, double walled or multi-walled and in bundles. The co-pending application recites a film. The present application recites an article. An article is generic and would encompass the film.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.
